Dear Year Three Parents and Carers,

Well, what a busy term it has been so far, with some great events that have happened. Last week all the classes were lucky to take part in drama workshops presented by the Hazlitt Youth Theatre. They really enjoyed these sessions, really getting into the different roles they played. The workshops linked to our writing in class about the story of King Midas.

On World book day our teachers were blown away by all the different costumes that the children wore. We really enjoyed seeing each other's costumes in our parade. We had lots of time to read and discuss what we enjoy reading. On the topic of reading, we have continued to read our class book 'The Space We're in' by Katya Balen. The children have been maturely discussing the story line in this text and developing their comprehension skills. The themes have included some discussion around neurodiversity, which is something we will be thinking about more in neurodiversity week next week.

In maths we have been working on measuring length. We have looked at measuring in millimetres, centimetres and metres. We also have also been comparing different measurements ordering them from the smallest to biggest. If you have a ruler at home, then please encourage your child to measure some things around your house and get them to tell you how many centimetres and millimetres they measure.

Forest school continues on Thursdays and hopefully the weather will continue to be kind to us! Please make sure that the children have plenty of layers, waterproofs, wellies and sturdy shoes as we all know the British weather is unpredictable.

A couple of reminders for you:

- Friday 20th March is comic relief day – casual dress day
- Thursday 2nd April – Easter church services

Thank you, as always, for your continued support,

Kind regards,

The Year 3 Team
